

Northwest Review

VOLUME
51 | 01
FALL 2021

They were protecting the baby says the rescuer who found all four boys alive, huddled in one lump like a mass of newborn mice and partly burrowed in the snow.

—
excerpted from “Found” by Mistee St. Clair

Northwest Review

VOLUME
51 | 01
FALL 2021

Publishing the Frontier of American Letters since 1957